Cremation Choices

These prices are effective as of November 1, 2020, but thereafter subject to change without notice.

Though an ancient and honorable way of disposing of our dead, in the middle of the 20th Century, fewer than 5% of bereaved families chose cremation. Now, early in the 21st Century, however, nearly half of the dead are cremated. The procedures, observances and rituals that surround cremation are, as one might imagine, as varied as the reasons families have in opting for this manner of disposition.

Families who choose cremation as an alternative to burial may select from a variety of service options, from the most minimal to the more traditional to the most elaborate. Just as the choice of burial does not mandate a particular type of service or casket, the choice of cremation does not disallow a variety of commemorative options.

This folder sets forth those types of services and cremation caskets/containers and urns that represent those most often selected by the families we serve. Prices are provided from our General Price List and Casket Price List, copies of which will be provided to you.

To assist families with their decisions, this document outlines four types of services, a selection of caskets/containers suitable for cremation, and a variety of urns. Variations on these services, to meet specific family needs or requests are, of course, available. We will discuss with you those elements of these services that are optional and which are required.

Please feel free to discuss with your funeral director any and all questions or concerns related to these matters. Our aim is to assist you in making good decisions and in caring for your dead in a manner in keeping with your values and wishes.

Because cremation is an irreversible procedure, this firm will only arrange for cremation following positive identification of deceased by next of kin or their representative and by signed permission granted by next of kin or a majority of those sharing equal kinship.
